TIME WORDS AND WORD ORDER

Subject	Auxiliary	Adverb of Frequency	Main Verb	Object	Prepositional Phrase	Time words
I	don't	usually	drink	tea	at home
He	isn't	often	speaking	English	at work
You	aren't		eating	meat	in the cafeteria	today
They	will		visit	me	in Brazil	next year
The teacher	won't		tell	us	about clauses	this week
The books	don't	always	teach	grammar	In a good way
My computer		never	sends	email	to my sister	When I want it
My sister		seldom	runs
The rain		generally	comes		to California	in March
I		sometimes	take	the bus	to school	In the Summer
We	are	almost always			on time
You must have a subject. The only exception is commands (stand up!)	Simple present and simple past do not have auxiliary verbs in affirmative statements; only in negatives and questions. All the other verb tenses have auxiliaries all the time. BE thinks it's an auxiliary even when it's the only verb.	Never Hardly ever Rarely/Seldom Sometimes Often Usually Almost always Always Generally Habitually	You must have a main verb. If BE is the only verb, it goes in the AUX space.	You don't always have an object	You don't always have a prepositional phrase. If you do, prepositional phrases of place go before prepositional phrases of time	Today Tomorrow Yesterday Now This week This year Next month Next week Last year Last month Every day Every year On Monday At 7:00 In February When I can While I'm here